Title: Pack adds JC quarterback for the 2017 season

Publication Date: April 25, 2017

Summary: Nevada has been waging a quarterback battle this spring but that didn't stop the team from adding even more competition to the position, which it did over the weekend by landing a commitment from Griffin Dahn.

The 6-foot-5, 232-pound Dahn, from Columbus, Ohio, played for American River College in Sacramento last season and will join the Wolf Pack in the fall and potentially vie for immediate playing time.

Title: The dilemma of an overflowing cookbook collection: Sell, shred or build more shelves?

Publication Date: April 28, 2017

Summary: Brian Knirk, director of the Culinary Arts & Hospitality Management at American River College, says his department eagerly takes donations. He prefers contemporary cookbooks to keep student chefs current. "What we don't want are 800 Bon Appetits, a bunch of Betty Crockers or spiral-bound church cookbooks."

Title: Catering, cakes, and the family that makes it all happen

Publication Date: April 30, 2017

Summary: Customers flock to Emily's Catering & Cakes for the cupcakes — mint chip, cinnamon dulce, coconut macaroon and chocolate peppermint, to name a few.

The delicious creations, only available during holiday "pop-up" bakeries or by special order, are the work of Emily and John Arbaugh, the couple behind the scenes, who have been dreaming up these wild flavors for 10 years — almost as long as they've been together.

The Arbaughs started dating during the summer of 2006. At the time, Emily had just returned home to Nevada County from Europe, where she'd been traveling and celebrating her recent graduation from culinary school at American River College.
