

September 6, 2017

Outlet: Washington Post

Title: Education leaders vow to keep helping ‘Dreamers’ even as Trump is expected to end program

Publication Date: September 4, 2017

Summary: Some education leaders are promising to keep helping undocumented students even as President Trump is expected to announce an end to the five-year-old federal program that has granted hundreds of thousands of “Dreamers” permission to stay in the United States without fear of being deported.

In California, the state with the most undocumented students enrolled in schools — more than 200,000 — education leaders prepared for Trump’s decision by creating rapid response teams, offering legal support and sending supportive messages to families, the Los Angeles Times reported.

Brian King, chancellor of the Los Rios Community College District, issued a statement saying, “By working together, we can and will continue to ensure that our colleges are safe places for ALL students to pursue their dreams. Just like our efforts on emergency response preparedness, we may not know how and when a crisis will present itself for our students, but we have a responsibility to be ready for all potential scenarios.”

URL: <https://www.washingtonpost.com/news/answer-sheet/wp/2017/09/04/education-leaders-vow-to-keep-helping-dreamers-even-as-trump-is-expected-to-end-program/>

Outlet: LA Times

Title: Will Trump dump DACA? California schools brace for news

Publication Date: August 31, 2017

Summary: As hundreds of thousands of young immigrants protected under an Obama-era program anxiously await President Trump’s decision on whether to end it — which some reports say could come as early as Friday — schools and universities across California have launched rapid response teams, stepped up legal support, issued messages of solidarity and called on Trump to allow students who are in the country without legal status to continue their educations without fear of deportation.

At the Los Rios Community College District, which includes Sacramento City College, campus officials said they have convened a rapid response team in preparation for any changes to the federal program, known as Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals, or DACA.

URL: <http://www.latimes.com/local/education/la-essential-education-updates-southern-schools-and-universities-across-1504219315-htmlstory.html>

Outlet: ABC 10

Title: California leaders voice outrage over DACA repeal

Publication Date: September 5, 2017

Summary: It wasn't long after the Trump administration announced Tuesday that it would begin to shutter an Obama-era immigration policy, Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals [DACA], that supporters of the program voiced their disappointment of the decision.

Los Rios Community College District Chancellor Brian King released a statement prior to the Tuesday White House announcement, stating the imminence of the very decision today.

“It’s imperative that we all remain vigilant on this issue and that we understand what resources are available to support students in this uncertain time,” King wrote.

URL: <http://www.abc10.com/news/local/california/california-leaders-voice-outrage-over-daca-repeal/471162383>

Outlet: Sacramento Bee

Title: With tobacco ban now in effect, Sacramento State joins UC Davis, Los Rios colleges

Publication Date: September 1, 2017

Summary: In accordance with a systemwide executive order issued in April, smoking and tobacco use are officially banned at the California State University, Sacramento, campus, effective Friday.

All four Los Rios Community College District campuses – American River, Cosumnes River, Folsom Lake and Sacramento City colleges – banned tobacco at different points in 2016.

URL: <http://www.sacbee.com/news/local/education/article170878837.html>

Outlet: Business Review USA Magazine

Title: Business Review USA magazine - September issue now available!

Publication Date: September 1, 2017

Summary: The September issue of the Business Review USA magazine, packed with interviews and insight, is now live!

Look out for interviews with Los Rios Community College District, DEDON, Cologix, M+W, Martin Preferred Foods, Nex-Tech and Iowa Communications Network.

URL: <http://www.businessreviewusa.com/technology/6000/Business-Review-USA-magazine-September-issue-now-available>

Outlet: Sacramento Bee

Title: Folsom’s Harris Center is a showcase for arts and culture

Publication Date: September 5, 2017

Summary: Whether you want to watch a full-scale theater production, attend a rock concert or be exposed to a variety of cultural performances, the Harris Center at Folsom Lake College has something for everyone.

Originally called the “Three Stages of Folsom Lake College,” the Harris Center is an 80,000-square-foot venue with three stages of various sizes. Though it was proposed to enrich the education of the school’s visual and performing arts students, a partnership with the city of Folsom made it a regional entertainment venue.

URL: <http://www.sacbee.com/entertainment/arts-culture/article168988097.html>

Outlet: Village Life

Title: Folsom Lake College welcomes new faculty

Publication Date: August 30, 2017

Summary: Folsom Lake College has added seven new full-time tenure-track faculty members to its growing team for the Fall 2017 semester. Please join us in welcoming.

URL: <https://www.villagelife.com/news/folsom-lake-college-welcomes-new-faculty/>

Outlet: SacTown Magazine

Title: Park(ing) Day returns, with creative parklets sprouting downtown

Publication Date: August 30, 2017

Summary: If you're walking near Capitol Mall on the morning of Sept. 16, you might notice a rose garden that seemingly grew up overnight alongside a miniature music festival stage, a mod art bar and a lounge area filled with chairs made of logs beside a wall resembling a beehive.

These whimsical installations are part of Sacramento United Park(ing) Day—a pop-up event that will transform parking spaces in front of the State Capitol between 9th and 10th streets into temporary parklets.

Fourteen local groups comprising architects, art students, design firms and non-profits will participate in this year's event—centered on the theme “Creative Capitol”—including American River College Art Club, Lionakis, Callander Associates and Stantec.

URL: <http://www.sactownmag.com/Blog/2017/Parking-Day/>

Outlet: ABC 10

Title: Carmichael man parlays Pokemon video into Youtube stardom

Publication Date: September 1, 2017

Summary: Anthony Padilla grew up in Carmichael, attending Albert Schweitzer Elementary, John Barrett Middle School and Del Campo High School. He took classes at American River College for several semesters after high school, studying business administration and building websites as a source of income.

URL: <http://www.abc10.com/news/local/carmichael-kid-parlays-pokemon-song-video-into-youtube-stardom/470190543>

Outlet: Elk Grove Citizen

Title: College Football: American River focusing on a state championship

Publication Date: August 31, 2017

Summary: Last year, the American River College Beavers won the CCCAA Northern California Regional Championship then dropped a two-point decision to Fullerton College in the state title game. Everything this season looks up for Beavers' head coach Jon Osterhout once again and there is no reason why they couldn't contend once again for a state championship.

URL: http://www.egcitizen.com/sports/college-football-american-river-focusing-on-a-state-championship/article_6875729c-8ed2-11e7-af6d-4baf5993db0e.html

Outlet: Sacramento Bee

Title: Sacramento-area JC football programs a haven for the overlooked and motivated

Publication Date: August 28, 2017

Summary: The only place warmer these days might be the surface of the sun.

At American River College, one cannot fully comprehend the heat index, or even see the temperature gauge through all the sweat pouring into eyes, and that's exactly how Jon Osterhout prefers it.

URL: <http://www.sacbee.com/sports/spt-columns-blogs/hometown-report/article169888592.html>

Los Rios In the News is published twice weekly by the Los Rios Community College District's Communications Office. To subscribe (or unsubscribe), please send an email to winklet@losrios.edu with "In the News" in the subject field and "subscribe" or "unsubscribe" in the body of the email.